- 11.8. The Client understands, acknowledges, and consents that any Market Data presented in NAGA's Website and/or Platform(s) will be provided or made accessible for convenience and information solely to assist the Client in their own investment decisions, and does not amount to investment advice. The data will therefore be provided or made accessible to the Client without any liability, and the Client should not rely upon the market data in any way. In particular, any price quoted in the Market Data may differ from the execution price the Client actually obtains.
- 11.9. The Company in its sole discretion and option may decline to execute any orders for a variety of reasons, including, but not limited to, the size of an order, market conditions, a violation of any applicable rules or regulations related to the Client's orders, insufficient or inadequate securities or liquid funds in the Client's Account.

- 11.10. The Client understands and acknowledges that there is no guarantee that his/her order will be filled in full or in part. Where a delay occurs for any reason, NAGA will attempt to execute the order as soon as reasonably practicable. The Client acknowledges and accepts that the market price of the Real Stock may have moved during the time between the receipt and acceptance of the Client's order and the Company's attempt to execute the order. In these circumstances, the third-party who has provided the quotation to the Company is not obliged to honour the indicative price the Client has received and, if that is the case, the Company may reject the Client's order. Such movements in price may be either in the Client's favour or against.
- 11.11. The Client acknowledges that it may not be possible to cancel or modify an order. Any attempt to cancel or modify an order is simply a request to the Company to do so. NAGA is not liable to the Client if the Company is unable to cancel or modify an order. The Client understands and agrees that, if an order cannot be cancelled or modified, he/she is bound by any execution of the original order. The Client further acknowledges that attempts to modify or cancel and replace an order can result in an over-execution of the order or the execution of duplicate orders and that he/she shall be responsible for all such over-executions or duplications. If the Client enters a cancellation request, he/she agrees to confirm that the cancellation request has been effected prior to entering a replacement order.
- 11.12. The Client acknowledges that if he/she places an order (whether during normal market hours or when the market is closed), he/she agrees to pay or receive the prevailing market price at the time their market order is executed. The Client understands that the price he/she pays may be significantly higher or lower than he/she had anticipated at the time they placed the order. To avoid paying a higher price and possibly exceeding his/her purchasing power or selling it at a lower price than he/she would like, the Client may choose to enter a Limit Order.
- 11.13. NAGA will publish a Limit Order if it relates to Real Stock admitted to trading on a regulated market and that order cannot immediately be executed under prevailing market conditions, unless NAGA expressly agrees not to publish the Client's unexecuted Limit Orders.
- 11.14. The Company agrees that if a Real Stock the Client holds in his/her Account is likely to be delisted, the Company will promptly inform the Client accordingly.
- 11.15. The Client shall only sell Real Stocks held on their account. If the client has instructed NAGA to sell a Real Stock that they do not own at the time of the sale and that is not held on their account (“Short Transaction”), such instruction shall be an order of CFD transaction, regardless of the leverage.

- 11.16. The Client acknowledges that NAGA may deal through exchanges and a number of Market Makers. NAGA may place the client’s order(s) outside of an Exchange. By accepting this Agreement, the client agrees to NAGA entering into transactions on his/her behalf outside a regulated market.
- 11.17. To ensure the execution of a Client’s order, NAGA may aggregate orders received from its clients. Aggregation means that the Company may combine the Client’s order with those of other clients of the Company for execution as a single order, if NAGA reasonably believes that this is in the overall best interests of its clients as a whole. However, on occasions, aggregation may result in the Client obtaining a less favourable price once their order has been executed. The Client acknowledges and agrees that the Company shall not have any liability to the Client as a result of any such less favourable price being obtained.
- 11.18. The Company may request the Client to sign the relevant US tax form before it accepts an Instruction to Deal from the Client to Buy an Instrument in relation to Shares (Instruments) listed in the US. If the Client has not previously provided the Company with a valid US tax form and he/she already holds US Shares, the Company may request to complete the relevant US tax form. If the Client does not return the signed and completed US tax form before the date the Company specifies (usually 30 days), the Company reserves the right to sell the Client’s US Shares. The Client has an ongoing obligation to inform the Company if his/her tax status changes. The Company may apply the default rate of taxes applied by the relevant tax authorities.
- 11.19. The Client acknowledge that the Company has the right to place a limitation to sell any or all Investments or suspend the Client’s account in the following cases, but not limited to:
- 11.19.1. where there is a suspicion of unlawful activity;
 - 11.19.2. where the Company, in its reasonable discretion, considers there is a suspicion of restricted or abusive trading activity;
 - 11.19.3. when the Company have issued the Client with a notice informing him/her of its intention to end the business relationship/close their account;
 - 11.19.4. where the Company has reasonable grounds to believe that allowing the Client to continue trading will be detrimental to the Client; or
 - 11.19.5. where the Client has not provided their express consent whenever the Company have requested such.

- 11.20. The Company is not obliged to, but it may arrange for the Client to receive the report, accounts and other information issued by a company. The Company is not obliged to notify the Client of or arrange attendance at any annual general meetings or extraordinary general meetings applicable to the Client's Instruments, and/or arrange the exercise of any voting rights attached to securities the Company holds on the Client's behalf, whether exercisable at an annual general meeting or otherwise. The Company is also not obliged to inform the Client of any class action or group litigation that is being proposed or taken, concerning the instruments that the Company is holding on the Client's behalf.
- 11.21. The Company will be responsible for claiming and receiving dividends, interest payments and other income payments accruing to the Clients instruments, the Company holds on the Client's behalf. The Company may, but is not obliged to, offer the Client any other rights or special offers that are made available to holders of such instruments. As the Company will hold the Client's Instruments in one or more pooled accounts, the Client may receive dividends or distributions net of applicable taxes which have been paid or withheld at rates that are less beneficial than those that might apply if the Instruments were held in the Client's own name or not pooled. However, it will be the Client's responsibility to satisfy these liabilities if the Company did not make such deduction(s).
- 11.22. A corporate event is something which will bring about a change to the Instruments the Client holds (such as but not limited to share consolidation or share split, reorganisations, mergers, dividends distributions, etc). Corporate events can be subject to immediate changes without notice. The Client accepts that any corporate event can take place at any time. The Client acknowledges and accepts that these changes are beyond the Company's control, which will not be liable for any financial losses that may occur as a result of these delays. If a corporate event impacts an Instrument in the Client's account, the Company will use reasonable endeavours to adjust the Instruments in the Client's account in a way that is fair and which aligns with market practices, depending on the circumstances of each event and according to the Company's reasonable discretion, although the Company is not obliged to do this. Adjustments may include changing the price or quantity of Instruments in the Client's account, to reflect the economic equivalent of such rights. Notwithstanding the above, the Company reserves the right to close out any open positions impacted by a corporate event (including but not limited to delisting and insolvency) in a fair way and taking into account the treatment the Company may receive from Exchange or Underlying Markets or its counterparty and/or any relevant third party. In this respect, the Company may make any required adjustment (price, quantity, or any other adjustment) resulting from the corporate event as may be applicable. The Company may close out open positions prior to or following such corporate events at its sole discretion.

11.23. The Company will reflect a corporate event on the Client's trading account as soon as practicable after the Company has received confirmation that the corporate event has been completed from its custodians.

11.24. Adjustment of Instruments in the Client's trading account after a corporate event may create tax liabilities for the Client. The Company may deduct tax when making adjustments.

11.25. The Client shall not act in any way other than in the normal course of business, or seek to manipulate the relevant financial market and/ or the Company's Trading Platform, including but not limited to entering into a transaction which may qualify as:

11.25.1. Market abuse (including but not limited to an insider trading or abusive use of confidential information) or any similar practices which may qualify as market abuse;

11.25.2. Scalping;

11.25.3. Acting in concert with a third party or similar abusive or manipulating way of using the Trading Platform;

11.25.4. Trading Platform abuse, price manipulation, time manipulation or similar practices.

- 12.10. In addition to the above the Client should only proceed with Margin Trading if they have time to manage their transactions on an active basis and understand that active management may be required at short notice:
- 12.10.1. due to the volatility of the Cryptocurrency' market, which will be increased as a result of leverage;
- 12.10.2. as a result of the Company changing margin requirements, including for open positions; and/or
